BULLETIN NO. 35

(BREWERS & BEER WHOLESALERS DIVISION)

TO ALL WHOLESALE LICENSEES:

It has come to the Board's attention that a few retail licensees have established additional storage facilities away from their licensed premises without written permission from our License Division and that some wholesalers are delivering beer and/or wine to the unauthorized additional storage facilities away from the licensed retail premises.

You are therefore notified that you may deliver beer and/or wine only to the licensed premises of retailers holding proper licenses; provided however, that if any retail licensee has applied for and received written permission from our License Division to have an additional storage facility away from his licensed premise, you may make deliveries of beer and/or wine to the specified additional storage facility with the understanding that all liquor laws and regulations are complied with. On such deliveries you must make a notation on the invoice that the beer and/or wine is to be delivered to the authorized additional storage of the retail licensee, and you must likewise note the storage address on the beer and/or wine invoice. Payment for the beer and/or wine should be received prior to, or at the time of the sale as required by Regulation 51-A and Regulation 41, and such invoice left at the retailer's licensed premise before the delivery is made to the additional authorized storage of the retailer.

Wholesalers or their authorized representatives may have access to authorized additional storage facilities of retail licensees only for the purpose of delivering beer or wine, and they may not retransfer the beer or wine back to the retailer's licensed premise.

Only retailers or their authorized employees may have access to the retailer's additional authorized storage facility, located away from the retail licensed premises.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS G. JORDAN
